LITERARY NOTES.

-The remarkable popularity of Mr. Longfellow shows no signs of waning. The entire large paper edition (500 sets) of his works to be published the coming autumn, has been ordered far in advance of publication.

-The extraordinary honors and attentions Dr. Holmes is now receiving in England, lend special interest to his article in the July "Atlantic Monthly" describing his previous visit fifty years ago.

-Prof. Hardy's new novel, "The Mind of Destiny," is already in the sixth thous-

-The vest-pocket edition of "Don't' has been received with much favor, and the sale of this edition has already run the aggregate number circulated in this country up to 80,000. We learn that a translation of "Don't" into Russian is on the eve of publication in St. Petersburg.

-No article in the July number of the "Atlantic" will attract more attention than the Autocrat's engaging description of his first visit to Europe, more than fifty years ago. Dr. Holmes has written nothing for a long time more charming in quality or more thoroughly characteristic. Philip Gilbert Hamerton gives the first paper of his series, "French and English," which bids fair to be as interesting and valuable as his delightful book "Round my House." In these articles he will indicate the differences in manners and morals, modes of life and of thought, between the neighboring nations. As an Englishman who has been for many years really domesticated in France, there is a peculiar fitness in his doing this. George Frederic Parson's vigorous, clearly reasoned, and extremely sensible paper on "The Labor Question" is a timely contribution. John Fiske has another noteworthy article, relating to the time of confusion and almost bankruptcy succeeding the Revolutionary War. "The Princess Casamassina," perhaps the strongest novel Mr. James has ever written, grows absorbingly interesting. There are installments of Craddock's "In the Clouds" and Bishop's "The Golden Justice," and a good short story, "Sibvl the Savage," by Mrs. Champney. There are, of course, some excellent literary articles, the most noticeable being Miss Preston's admirable paper on "Ouida." The Contributors' Club and Books of the Month complete a remarkable number, which fitly opens the -Studies in Modern Socialism and Labor Problems" is the title of a forthcoming book by T. Edwin Brown, D. D., of Providence. These Studies consisted originally of a course of Sunday evening lectures delivered last winter in Providence, but they have been carefully revised, copious notes have been added, and the lecture form has been discarded. One great value of the studies is their fullness of statement of all the issues involved. They contain a brief history of Socialism and Communism, a careful exposition of what the advocates of these theories claim, an acknowledgment of what is just therein, and a searching criticism of their defects. As a presentation of both the labor and the capitalist sides of the controversy, the book will be of service, while its graphic and animated style will make it acceptable to readers of all classes. It will be published in June from the press of D. Appleton &

-Many readers will recall a volume published during the war, entitled 'Among the Pines," appearing under the pen-name of Edmund Kirke. The book attained a remarkable success, and all who have read it will recall its spirited and graphic delineations of life in the South. We are glad to be able to announce the early publication of a new book from the press of D. Appleton & Co., by this author, James R. Gilmore, the title of which is "The Rear-Guard of the Revolution." It is a narrative of the pioneers that first crossed the Alleghanies and settled in what is now Tennessee, under the leadership of two remarkable men, James Robertson and John Sevier. Sevier is notably the hero of the narrative. His career was certainly remarkable, as much so as that of Daniel Boone. The title of the book is derived from the fact that a body of hardy volunteers, under the leadership of Sevier, crossed the mountains to uphold the patriotic cause, and by their timely arrival secured the defeat of the British army at King's Mountain. The volume will be ready some time in June.—[D. Appleton & Co.

-"How curiously," says the New York Star, "the public will sometimes be mis led by the title of a book, is illustrated in the case of a bright little story entitled Modern Fishers of Men," published by the Appletons a few years ago, and of which they will shortly issue a cheap paper edition. A rather unfortunate choice of title, together with the representation of a fish-hook on the cover, and the singular headings of every chapter, led every one who gave the book no more than a cursory look to believe it to be a work onfish-culture, and even a few critics spoke of the little work as a 'clever and useful aid to the devotees of Izaak Walton!' In reality, however, the work is an exceedingly brilliant picture of American village life, 'a story of the missions, omissions and commissions of various characters' in a village church and community. At the time of its previous publication it was issued anonymously; the new edition will, however, bear the name of the author, who, we learn, is Professor George L. Raymond, author of the recently pubship of Literature at Princeton College.' -Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's sermons delivered by him during his present visit to England are to be specially reported and published monthly in verbatim in The Brooklyn Magazine.

-Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher has promised to furnish the Brooklyn Magazine with a series of "Letters from England" during her sojourn abroad. The "letters" will consist of impressions of persons, places and incidents which may come under Mrs. Beecher's observation. $3.60.

A Appeal for Are to the Sextant of the Meetinouse-By a Gasper.

The sextant of the meetinouse, which sweeps And dusts, or is supposed too! and makes flers, And lites the gas and cometimes leaves a screw loose, in which case it smells orful-worse than lampile; And wrings the Bel and toles it when men dyes to the grief of survivin pardners, and sweeps pathes; And for the servases gits $100 per annum. Which them that thinks deer, let em try it; Getting up be foar star lite in all weathers and Kindlin fires when the wether is as cold As zero, and like as not green wood for kindlers; I wouldn't be hired to do it for no some-But o sextant! there are 1 kermoddity Which's more than gold, which doant cost-nothin; Worth more than anything oxsep the Sole of Man. i mean pewer Are, sextent, i mean pewer are! O it is plenty out of dozes, so plenty it doant no What on airth to dew with itself, but flys about Scaterin levs and bloin of men's hatts; in short, jest "fre as are" out dores. But o sextant, in our church its scarce as plety, scarce as bank bills wen agints beg for mischuns, Wich some say purty ofte (taint nothin to me, Wat I give aint nothin to nobody,) but o sextant, u shut up 500 mens, wimmen and children, Specially the latter, up in a tite place, Some has bad breths, none aint 2 swete, some is fevery, some is scrofilus, some has bad teeth, And some haint none, and some aint over clean; But every 1 on em breethes in and out and out and in, Say 50 times a minit, or 1 million and a half breths an our, Now how long will a church ful of are last at that rate, I ask you, say 15 minutes, and then wats to be did? Why then they must brethe it all over agin. And then agin, and so on, till each has took it down, At least ten times, and let it up again, and wats more, The same individible dout have the privilege of brethen his own are, and no one's else; Each one mus take whatever comes to him. O sextant, don't you know our lungs is bellusses, To blo the fler of life, and keep it from going out; and how can bellusses blow without wind, And aint wind are? i put it to your conscens. Are is the same to us as milk to babies, Or water to fish, or pendlums to clox-Or roots and airbs unto an injun Doctor, Or little pils to an omepath, Or boys to gurls. Are is for us to brethe, Wat signifies who preeches if i cant breethe? Wats Pol? Wats Pollus? to sinners who are ded? Ded for want of breth? why sextant, when we die Its only coz we cant brethe no more—that's all. And now, O sextant, let me beg of you 2 let a little are into our church. (Pewer are is sertin proper for the pews) And do it weak days and Sunday tew-It aint much trouble-only make a hole And the are will come in itself; (It luvs to come in whare it can git warm :) And o how it will rouse the people up And sperrit up the preacher, and stop garbs, And yawns and figgits as effectooal As wind on the dry Boans the Profit tells of.
